St Helens Cares

Up and down the country health and social care funding is running out. People are living for longer and they need more access to services than ever before. In St Helens things are no different.

By 2020 we will have £100million less than we need to deliver health and social care in the town. This means we won't be able to afford all of the services that people need and rely on. We will have to say no when we have said yes in the past. Something has to change.

St Helens Cares is the new approach to delivering health and social care in St Helens.

Together we will deliver

The right care
In the right place
At the right time
Every time

That's the St Helens Cares aim

Who's involved?

St Helens Cares brings together a wide range of public service organisations united by one goal, to improve people's lives in St Helens and to improve the place as a whole.

Organisations involved with St Helens Cares will take joint responsibility for the quality of care and for managing the available funding to provide services.
